NURSING ADMINISTRATION

PROGRAM LENGTH: 15 MONTHS

Take your nursing career further

What's the next logical step for your career once you've earned your nursing license and your bachelor's degree? Finish your master's degree! The right master's degree in nursing administration could help you transition into nursing positions of greater responsibility.

Program objectives

The master's degree program in nursing administration is designed to prepare registered nurses (RNs) who already have a bachelor's degree to gain entry-level employment in administrative, leadership, and management roles. You could work in a variety of healthcare and/or nursing settings, including managed-care groups, home-health organizations, long-term care facilities, public or private hospitals, and clinics.

With your master's degree and proper certification or licensing,<sup>1</sup> you could qualify to advance in your nursing practice and start enjoying the rewards of an enhanced career.
